

Element Four: Neighborhoods, Housing & Community Diversity

Quality neighborhoods, well-maintained homes and a diverse but engaged citizenry all serve as the foundation of what makes Northbrook a great place to live and work. Northbrook is and will remain a suburban community comprised predominantly of quality neighborhoods of single family homes. Neighborhood schools and parks are also fundamental building blocks of the community fabric. Protecting existing neighborhoods and in turn the property values in the community is a primary goal of the Village. The map below depicts the median value of homes within the various Census Block Group in the area. Property values generally are slightly higher than found in communities to the west of Northbrook, but slightly lower than values in the lakefront communities to our east.

Property values have increased significantly in Northbrook since 1979. As can be seen in the graphic below, home values increased at a much more rapid rate than did household income levels. This was a trend seen across the Chicago region and has made housing less affordable than in the past.

The median age of Northbrook has steadily increased in recent years, as seen in the graphic below.

Northbrook Comprehensive Plan

The shift in age groups can more easily be seen in the figure below. Between 1990 and 2000 the Village saw a modest increase in the number of school-aged children and a substantial increase in the number of adults 45 and above.

A more detailed demographic profile of the Village, illustrating the results of year 2000 Census is shown in the “population pyramid” below.

Northbrook Comprehensive Plan

Northbrook's diversity contributes to the uniqueness of our community.. Northbrook has also become more racially diverse since 1970. Both the number and percentage of non-whites in Northbrook increased during the 1970's, although the community remains predominantly white (89.5%) in 2007.

The map on the following page depicts the percentage of population that is non-white within Census Block Groups in and around Northbrook.
